

Home > Business and industry > Running a business > Business licensing
> Alcohol licensing

Guidance

Alcohol licensing: using case law

An outline of how case law can support public health teams contributing to court hearings about licensing.

From: Public Health England
(</government/organisations/public-health-england>)

Published 13 March 2017

Documents

Details

This is an introduction to case law most relevant to the Licensing Act 2003. It outlines some decisions that have been handed down by courts that public health teams can use to when contributing to hearings.

It has been produced by Lawyers in Local Government and Public Health England (PHE).

Published 13 March 2017

Related content

Reviewing a licensing policy: think local, act local
(</government/publications/reviewing-a-licensing-policy-think-local-act-local>)

Reducing alcohol related health harms in Leeds
(</government/case-studies/reducing-alcohol-related-health-harms-in-leeds>)

Alcohol licensing: making representations \(/government/publications/alcohol-licensing-making-representations\)

Alcohol licensing: evaluating public health evidence in Medway \(/government/case-studies/alcohol-licensing-evaluating-public-health-evidence-in-medway\)

Embedding public health in Coventry's licensing policy statement \(/government/case-studies/embedding-public-health-in-coventrys-licensing-policy-statement\)

Collection

Alcohol licensing and public health \(/government/collections/alcohol-licensing-and-public-health\)

Explore the topic

Alcohol licensing \(/business-and-industry/alcohol-sales\)

OGL

All content is available under the Open Government Licence v3.0, except where otherwise stated

© Crown copyright